IN THE LAST DITCH.

THE Democracy of Nevada must be in a desperate frame of mind when the chairman of that party finds it expedient to resign rather than assume the responsibility of going through another campaign handicapped by such a group of soreheads as the party has arrayed in its army of Falstaffian fighters. It is deplorable that the men who have had their fore foot right in the trough for a series of years should have reached that stage when they are willing to admit there is something in the warning of Belshazzar. They realize their race has run and that there is not a ghost of a chance for them to make a stand against the oncoming tide of business men. At last they stand exposed as the unfaithful stewards of the people's trust in the house of nepotism. They have exhausted their vocabulary of excuses and are fighting among themselves for a chance to stick the knife of the assassin in the ribs of their fellow candidates. Between Newlands and Dickerson they feel they are between the devil and the deep sea, and before the campaign is fairly launched they will be ready to throw down their arms and flee to the woods, where they may hide their diminished heads and never again confront the people. Chairman McIntosh says there is too much discontent for him to harmonize and he is not going to make the attempt. He says he had all he could do at the last campaign to hold the remnants of the party intact, but this year he despairs of bringing the several factions together.

The irretrievable confronting statesmen of the Democratic persuasion is emphasized by the appeal of the state committee to Sheriff Malley, of Nye county, to come forward with the sacrificial offering of a fat job for a hopeless chance in the race for state treasurer. He is the lamb that is to be led to the slaughter for the good of the party and he is expected to enter the shambles with a smile and lay his head under the guillotine without murmuring against the fate that decrees his execution. It is too bad, but it is all in the game of politics, which the Nye county candidate has played so long and so earnestly. With William McMillan as the Republican candidate, the race is suicidal for any Democrat, a fact that reflects the desperate straits of the party in trying to bolster its shriveling ascendancy. Mr. McMillan is one of the strongest candidates in Nevada and a gentleman of the old school who is universally admired, has a statewide acquaintance, possesses unimpeachable integrity and at the last election had a walkover. The Democratic nomination gives McMillan the post of state treasurer on a silver platter.

NEWLANDS SNUBBED.

NEVADA'S senators don't seem to have much of a pull at Washington when it comes to appointments. They always manage to kick up a good deal of dust to hide themselves, but when the dust clears away they are found some distance from the pie counter which their constituents so dearly love. Last week the Nevada senators were humbled by Senator Thomas, of Colorado, making an eloquent appeal for recognition of Nevada in making the appointment of customs collector for the district of Utah and Nevada. Senator Thomas is something of a politician but, if reports tell the truth, he has lost his old adroitness and cunning, for he came out openly with a letter to the wheel-horses of Utah telling them it was essential to the success of Newlands that the appointment of customs collector should go to a Nevada man. In this letter the tall sequoia of the Rockies points out that Nevada went Democratic two years ago and is represented in Washington "by two Democratic senators and a Democratic congressman;" that Newlands is a candidate for re-election and that his success would be jeopardized unless he were allowed to bring home some fat slabs of bacon in the shape of federal appointments.

This importuning of the administration for office was singularly unfortunate, for it seems that as soon as the ground swell reached the ears of the president he instantly took steps to show he was not sympathizing with the truckling methods of the Nevada contingent, as he appointed T. F. Thomas, chairman of the Democratic county central committee of Salt Lake City, to the job of collector of customs for the district of Nevada and Utah.

In the meantime it is up to Congressman Roberts to demand blood or a retraction from Senator Thomas, of Colorado, for stigmatizing him as a Democrat.

California sugar factories display their product in store windows for the benefit of housewives. We are told there is a sugar factory in Nevada, but in this part of the world nobody can claim credit for having seen the goods. If the company would drop the grouch against the state and advertise they might overlook the hole in the doughnut.

The Purity of Election league is requested to note the formal announcement from Washington, D. C., that $5,000 has been subscribed to conduct the suffrage campaign in Nevada. The suffra-

Clergyman Referee Lauds Boxing As An Antidote for Loose Living

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, August 1.—The Rev. John Boudier, the clergyman who acted as master of ceremonies at the recent Welsh-Ritchie bout, has this to say in defense of the fistie art, and in explanation of his own stand:

"I have always taken an interest in boxing, and I promoted it among my congregation down in Exeter by running a boxing gymnasium. During the winter we have matches with the gloves at our mission hall in Islington, and I sometimes act as time-keeper. But I shouldn't like to referee a fight. It is enough for me to announce the combatants. I have never had the gloves on myself. I encourage boxing because a man who is going to be a good boxer cannot be a loose liver or a drunkard. Besides, I believe a clergyman should mix with the sports of his flock. Boxing teaches self-control, which is among the first of Christian virtues. Only please do not call me a 'boxing parson'."

Father Boudier makes an ideal announcer because of his booming voice. The Rev. Everard Digby, who was prevented from acting as announcer at the Welsh-Ritchie bout by order of the Bishop of Stepney, appears to have argued the matter out with his superior, for he was permitted to officiate at the more recent fight in which Wells knocked out Collin Bell.

gettes are chortling over this sudden accession of wealth and are finding their ranks rapidly growing by the accession of militant harpies who are always found ready to knead the dough when they are in need of it. Nevada must be in bad shape politically as a suffrage candidate when it requires so much to force the doctrine of equal rights down the throats of the people.

The Gazette of Reno must have experienced a change of management when it forgets the name of its twin brother and credits an editorial paragraph to the Goldfield Chronicle, a sheet that was interred by the Democratic party four years ago.

A few days ago the supreme court handed down a decision in the Grace Clow case that took seven years to decide. The law requiring judges to render a decision in ninety days after the case is tried is only a joke and should be repealed.

Lem Allen is preparing to make an active campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor; he says he will tell the people some spiey things about the duplicity of Boyd, McIntosh and Bartlett.

"The Three Tailors of Tooley Street" recently held a meeting in Reno and selected state candidates for the Democrats of Nevada to vote for at the coming primary election.

THOUSANDS OF FISH FOR COUNTY CREEKS

BIG CONSIGNMENT OF YOUNG TROUT FOR THE MOUNTAINS.

Next year there will be plenty of fish swimming the streams of Nye county and other places where water is a little more plentiful than in Tonopah. Twelve fifteen gallon cans loaded to the brim arrived here this morning, numbering 30,000 fry. They are to be distributed in Currant creek, Deep creek, Meadow Canyon creek and Barley creek. There will be another shipment in a few days of 100,000 fish. The fish are raised and shipped all over the west from the United States hatchery in Verdi.

If it's of exceptional value at the price, it's sure to be advertised in the Bonanza, else the merchant would price, it's sure to be advertised in the Bonanza, else the merchant would be hopelessly unprogressive.
